

Pawsitively Pets Pet Therapy Program

Pets make us happy. They provide unconditional love and comfort. For the elderly, they help with dementia symptoms, blood pressure, depression and overall mood when they have the opportunity to interact with animals. Research indicates that pet owners are healthier, less stressed, and happier. Sadly, it is not feasible for all residents in care facilities to own one. In this case, the best alternative is to organize a pet therapy programs to visit residents regularly.
